

Ingredi is an eCommerce platform that leverages Tilley Distribution's extensive inventory and logistical capabilities to enhance Ingredi's product offering, streamline the supply chain, and increase market share. Through this partnership, customers benefit from the combined expertise of both companies, ensuring reliable, high-quality product availability and service. While some documents may reflect the name Tilley Distribution for auditing and operational purposes, this reflects the integration of our systems and resources. Rest assured, this partnership is designed to drive growth and deliver a seamless customer experience, ensuring full transparency and compliance with industry standards.
